Transforming the bathroom into an extension of a home's living space, the new Butler collection of wall-mounted cabinets is a beautiful merging of functionality and aesthetics.

Conceived by Italy designer Andrea Federici, the system is intended to keep precious and oft-used items close at hand.

The elements – configurable columns with shelves, internal drawers and clothes rails – are made from aluminum, glass and solid walnut or oak and can be finished in either matte or glossy lacquer.

Butler is offered in two depths – 20 and 35 centimetres – the cabinets can be equipped with interior LEDs to illuminate shelves and drawers.
